

CTC is seeking to employ a Community Organising Apprentice from 15 September 2024 to 31 July 2025. The post holder will have a placement working with a team to embed community organising into the life of an institution. As this is an entry level training role, no previous organising experience is necessary.

Please email claire.moll.namas@ctclondon.org to request a full application pack. The deadline for receiving completed applications is noon on the 26th of July. We will be in touch with candidates by the 29th of July to indicate whether they have been shortlisted. Shortlisted candidates will be interviewed on 30th of July.

Location: Centre for Theology and Community Office

Hours: 15 hours/week

Salary: London Living Wage (currently £13.15 per hour)

Job Description

The post holder will be trained through the attendance and active participation in trainings, seminars, staff meetings, retreats with the Centre for Theology and Community 2024-2025 Formation Cohort. Additionally, the post holder will receive training from CTC's strategic partner, Citizens UK, on broad-base community organizing.

The post holder will be placed in an institution where they will work with the team to embed community organising into the life of the institution attending team meetings and various week-day activities. It is hoped that through shadowing, mentoring, and 1-2-1s in the institution, they will be able to lead on an organising project, or part of a project, by the end of their placement. In addition to their line manager at CTC, they will have a supervisor at their placement and will meet regularly with them, not only to discuss work, but to reflect together on the links between their training, their faith and the work of the institution.
